

University Policy for Animals on Campus

Responsible Department: Institutional Compliance & Risk Management

Responsible Administrator: Director of ICRM

Effective Date: May 1, 2018

Date of Last Review: February 2019

Date of Scheduled Review: May 2022

I. PURPOSE

To ensure the health and safety of faculty, staff, students, and visitors regarding animals on campus. Abilene Christian University (ACU) complies with the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) and related regulations in allowing the use of service animals for students, employees, and visitors. ACU complies with the Fair Housing Act (FHA) in allowing residents, to include students and employees, the use of emotional support animals that are approved as an accommodation. Employees may not bring emotional support animals to work. Exceptions may be made to this policy on a case-by-case basis as required by applicable law. This policy does not apply to animals related to instructional or research activity. Violations of this policy may result in disciplinary action.

II. SCOPE

This policy applies to all members of the ACU community, including faculty, staff, students, volunteers, vendors, visitors, and residents of university owned property.

III. DEFINITIONS

“Control” – the animal must be properly housed and restrained or otherwise under the dominion and control of the Owner at all times. No Owner shall permit the animal to go loose or run at large. If an animal is found running at large, the animal is subject to capture and confinement and immediate removal from the University. Control also means that the animal should not be allowed to bark repeatedly. However, if a dog barks just once, or barks because someone has provoked it, this would not mean that the dog is out of control.

“Disability” - with respect to a person per ADA: (A) a physical or mental impairment that substantially limits one or more major life activities of such individual; (B) a record of such an impairment; or (C) being regarded as having such an impairment.

“Emotional Support Animals” (ESA’s) – per FHA is defined as any animal that provides emotional support, well-being, or companionship that alleviates or mitigates symptoms of the disability; the animal is not individually trained for work tasks. Emotional support animals are not limited to dogs and can be other species of animal. Emotional support animals are not considered service animals. ESA’s should not be brought to ACU property prior to approval being granted. The University will make an individualized assessment of each proposed ESA.

“Owner” - the actual owner of an animal and/or the person who has the care, custody or control of such animal.

“Pets” - an animal sufficiently tame to live with a family and are kept and cared for as companions.

“Service Animals” (SA’s) – per ADA is defined as animals (dogs only) that are individually trained to do work or perform tasks for people with disabilities. Examples of such work or tasks include guiding people who are blind, alerting people who are deaf, pulling a wheelchair, and alerting and protecting a person who is having a seizure, among others. Service animals are working animals, not pets.

“Trainee” – an animal undergoing training to become a service animal. A trainee will be housebroken and fully socialized. To be fully socialized means the animal will not, except under rare occasions, bark, yip, growl or make disruptive noises; will have a good temperament and disposition; will not be aggressive. A trainee will be under control of the Owner, who may or may not have a disability. If the trainee begins to show improper behavior, the Owner will act immediately to correct the animal or will remove the animal from the premises.

IV. PROCEDURE

A. Pets

Members of the University community and visitors to the campus are generally permitted to bring their pets to public outdoor areas of the Abilene campus. Pets are only allowed outdoors; they are prohibited from all University buildings. Athletic venues are subject to a different policy (Please obey posted signs or contact the athletic office for venue specific rules). Pets are permitted at the Intramural Field while in accordance with this policy. Students, employees, and guests are not permitted to have pets in the residence halls or university housing. All pets must be controlled by a leash, tether, or harness that does not exceed six feet in length. Pets may not be tethered to a tree or structure or left unattended for any period of time. Unless otherwise permitted by this policy, pets are prohibited from all outdoor University events. Owners must immediately clean up after their animals and ensure the animals' behavior does not cause a nuisance or harm to individuals or University property. Owners are responsible for any damage or injury caused by their pets, as well as appropriately caring for their pets. The University is not liable for harm to pets while on campus. Excluding the Rhoden Field Lab manager and Residence Directors (with supervisor permission), pets are not allowed at any other university locations, including the Dallas campus, or any international campuses.

Further questions, assistance in enforcing this policy, or reports of an animal that poses a threat or is otherwise disruptive may be directed to the ACU Police Department (ACUPD) at (325) 674-2911 or the Office of Institutional Compliance & Risk Management at (325) 674-6142 or risk@acu.edu. Any individual bitten or harmed by an animal on campus should immediately contact ACUPD.

B. Service Animals

The University provides equal access and reasonable accommodation for individuals with disabilities to participate in any program, service, or opportunity provided by the University, and complies with applicable laws related to service animals.

For an individual to qualify for having a service animal on University property:

- The individual must have a disability as defined by the ADA; and

- The accompanying animal must be trained to do specific tasks for the qualified individual.

General Rules

- ADA does not require service animals to wear a vest or ID tag.
- ADA does not restrict the number of service animals or the type of dog breeds that can be service animals.
- SA's must be trained even though a license or certification is not required.
- Specific questions about the individual's disability may not be asked.
- The appropriate way to ascertain that an animal is a service animal is to ask (only if it is not apparent):
 - (1) Is the animal required because of a disability; and
 - (2) What work or tasks it has been trained to perform

Concerns of whether an animal is a pet or service animal should be reported to the Office of Institutional Compliance & Risk Management at (325) 674-6142 or risk@acu.edu. Faculty may consult with the University Access Programs by email at alpha@acu.edu or by phone at (325) 674-2667 to determine whether (1) the animal is a pet or service animal, and (2) the environment of the classroom warrants the exclusion of an SA.

Students can be required to provide documentation to the ADA Compliance Officer to demonstrate that an animal is individually trained to perform tasks for a student with disabilities, and faculty may request notification provided by the ADA Compliance Officer for the classroom/lab setting. SA's should not be excluded without consultation with the ADA Compliance Officer to ensure that these settings are as accessible as possible.

Allergy or Fear

Allergies or fear of dogs are not valid reasons for denying access or refusing service to individuals using service animals. If students have an allergy to or fear of service animals on campus, they are encouraged to contact University Access Programs at (325) 674-2667 or alpha@acu.edu to assist in resolving the issue. If employees have an allergy to or fear of service animals on campus, they are encouraged to contact their supervisor and the Office of Human Resources to assist in resolving the issue. The University will attempt to reasonably accommodate all parties.

Trainee

Service animals in training, or trainees, are allowed on campus in accordance with policy guidelines for service animals. Faculty, staff, and students should not bring service animals in training to the classroom/lab, ACU owned residences, or workplace unless otherwise permitted by this policy. Service animals are required to be trained to perform tasks, but not required to be professionally trained and certification is not required.

Reasonable Accommodation

Students who require the use of a service animal on campus are encouraged to contact the University Access Programs at (325) 674-2667 or alpha@acu.edu to voluntarily register as a student with a disability. Information provided to University Access Programs is confidential and specific information about the disability will not be released without the consent of the student.

Employees may request the assistance of a service animal as a reasonable accommodation for their disability; such requests must be handled through the Office of Human Resources and according to the Americans with Disabilities Act Policy No. 041.

C. Emotional Support Animals

Emotional Support Animals are not considered service animals under this policy or applicable law. ESA's are not permitted in University buildings or other settings and must follow the guidelines for pets on campus. ESA's may be allowed in on-campus and off-campus ACU residences when approved by the Office of Residence Life or the Director of Off-Campus Properties, respectively. Employees may not bring emotional support animals to work.

For an individual to qualify to have an emotional support animal in his or her residence:

- The individual must have a disability as defined by the ADA;
- The individual must have an already established relationship with the animal;
- Students must be approved by the Office of Residence Life and follow Resident Life policies and procedures for ESA's;
- Off-Campus ACU Properties residents must be approved by the Director of Off-Campus Properties and follow their applicable lease agreement

D. Exclusion or Removal of Animals

Exclusion or removal of animals are determined on an individualized basis and when one or more of the following conditions exists:

- The animal is disruptive and not effectively controlled;
- The animal is not housebroken;
- The presence of the animal would fundamentally alter the nature of the job, service, or activity (e.g. labs that require a sterile environment);
- The animal's presence, behavior, or actions pose an unreasonable or direct threat to property and/or the health and safety of others (including inappropriate hygiene and cleanliness);
- The animal is physically ill;
- The animal may be in danger; or
- The animal's presence may compromise the integrity of certain research

E. Owner Responsibilities

The University is not responsible for the care or supervision of service animals. Owners are responsible for:

- The cost of any property or other damage due to the animal;
- The control and reasonable behavior of the animal at all times;
- The service animal's appropriate hygiene and cleanliness, including regular bathing and grooming, as needed;
- The immediate clean-up and proper disposal of all animal waste; and
- Complying with University policy and procedures including federal, state and local laws for animal rights and owner responsibilities

F. Restricted Areas

Service animals are permitted to accompany individuals with disabilities in all areas of campus where community members and visitors are allowed to go. SA's should be permitted in as many instances as possible. The University may prohibit the use of Service Animals in certain locations due to health or safety restrictions. Restricted areas for SA's may include but are not limited to food preparation areas (except communal food preparation areas in residence halls), research laboratories or classrooms that contain research animals, areas that require protective clothing, and other areas as required by federal, state or local laws. The ADA does not override public health rules that prohibit dogs in swimming pools. However, service animals must be allowed on the pool deck and in other areas where the public is permitted.

Exceptions to these restrictions may be requested and will be considered on a case by case basis.

Approved ESA's are permitted only in residence halls or off-campus ACU residence unless approved as mentioned by this policy.

G. Etiquette Around Service Animals and Their Owners:

- Do not pet, touch or otherwise distract a service animal when it is working. Doing so may interfere with its ability to perform its duties.
- Do not feed a service animal. Their work depends on a regular and consistent feeding regimen that the owner is responsible to maintain.
- Do not attempt to separate the owner from the service animal.
- Do not harass or deliberately startle a service animal.
- Avoid initiating conversations about the person's disability. Some people do not wish to discuss their disability.

H. Special Situations or Exceptions

Students and employees should contact the Office of Institutional Compliance & Risk Management at (325) 674-6142 or risk@acu.edu to discuss any special situations regarding service animals or emotional support animals that are not covered by this policy, as well as any exceptions to this policy that might be requested by other ACU community members. All exceptions must be approved in writing.

I. Legal Compliance

All animal owners are responsible for abiding by applicable federal, state, and local regulations and ordinances. In example, the City of Abilene's Animal Ordinance (Chapter 6, Article IV) requires all dogs and cats (four months of age or older) owned within the city limits to have a current rabies vaccination. An owner shall provide proof of current vaccination for the dog or cat upon request by city officials or ACUPD. It is a Class C Misdemeanor offense to own or keep an animal within the city limits in violation of the section referenced above.

J. Grievances

In the event of a dispute about an accommodation related to a service or emotional animal or an animal restriction, students are encouraged to attempt to resolve the issue with University Access Programs and/or the Office of Residence Life. Students may also file a complaint in accordance with the University's student handbook. Employees are encouraged to attempt to resolve disputes with their immediate supervisor and the Office of Human Resources. Employees may also file a complaint in accordance with Complaint Procedures Policy No. 530.
