

Online

MASTER OF EDUCATION IN INSTRUCTION AND LEARNING

M.Ed.

Become a leader in instruction, design, and development..

Our Master of Education in Instructional Leadership is designed to empower educational leaders who promote instruction in safe and productive learning environments.

The conflict resolution track is designed to prepare educators in the use of conflict resolution in their field, while the Learning with Emerging Technologies track is focused on professional development and the design of instruction using technology.

Ready to be a part of an online program that will lead to a rewarding career? Apply now or contact us for more information today.

Program Overview

Credit Hours:	30
Degree:	M.Ed.
Program length:	20 months
Tracks:	2

Tracks

- Learning with Emerging Technologies
- Conflict Management and Resolution

What outcomes can you expect?

- Master Teacher
- Technology Coordinator
- Mediator
- Instructional Design Specialist
- Curriculum Development
- Professional Development Trainer

Coursework

You will take courses such as:

- Reframing Learning
- Managing Data
- Learning Challenges
- Continuous Improvement
- Learning Environment

Admissions Requirements:

- Application and $50 application fee
- Bachelor's transcript with a cumulative undergraduate GPA of 3.0 or higher
- Current Resume
- Two letters of recommendations
- Purpose Statement which includes philosophy of education
- Access to an accredited K-12 environment